New York's first piano advertisement was printed on Jan. 10, 1789. John Jacob Astor, whose store was at 81 Queen street, "next door but one to the Friends' meeting house," was the advertiser. He announced the sale of "an assortment of pianofortes of the newest construction, made by the best makers of London."

EASIER NOW THAN LATER

It is easier to break up a cold or check a cough now than it will be later. Persistent bronchial coughs, throat "hang on" all winter pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. L. W. Day, 65 Campbell St., E. Detroit, Mich., writes: "Pole's Honey and Tar relieves one of bronchitis very quickly. I hope never to have it again." This reliable family medicine for the relief of coughs, colds, croup, hoarseness, etc., contains no opiates. Children like it.—Sold everywhere.

Blay Gets $14,000 Damages.

James W. Blay, chauffeur for the late ex-Governor George H. Prouty, who was killed on the tracks of the Grand Trunk two miles north of Waterville, Que., in August, 1918, won a verdict of $14,687.50 in United States district court at Windsor from the Grand Trunk railway. The jury brought in a verdict after three hours' deliberation.

Mrs. Prouty, widow of the ex-governor, who sued the road for $300,000 and $7,000 for the loss of the automobile, lost her case when it was tried in federal court at Newport early in the summer.

The suit of Blay against the railroad was in federal court about a week.

Mrs. Prouty, before Blay got his verdict, filed a motion for a new trial but this motion has not yet been decided.

The accident which resulted in the two suits happened the morning of Aug. 19, 1918. Mr. Prouty was killed outright and the chauffeur badly injured. The railroad claimed the Prouty car was driven at a high rate of speed as it approached the crossing. Blay claimed the bells at the crossing were not ringing.

Testimony that was not introduced at the trial of Mrs. Prouty's suit was brought into Blay's case. Physicians testified as to Blay's nervous shock, and that the accident unfitted him for further work along his line.

Drs. Blanchard and Gaines of Newport testified for Blay and a disposition was read from Dr. Lynch of Sherbrooke. Dr. Allen of St. Johnsbury testified for the railroad.

An electrical engineer and a former employee of the Grand Trunk also were witnesses or Blay.

The plaintiff introduced evidence to indicate that the roadway approaching the Waterville crossing is so outlined that it would be impossible for a car to be driven more than 25 miles an hour.

There is no indication as to whether the railroad will take an appeal. Blay was represented by Chas. A. Prouty, Albert W. Farman and Ward Prouty of Newport. The Grand Trunk was represented by John W. Redmond of Newport.

DAVID SMITH, AGED MAN, HANGS SELF IN BARN.

David Smith, an old gentleman, who for some years past has made his home in the family of Allie Blair, to his lawful life by hanging Monday afternoon in Beebe. Mr. Smith had been in poor health for some time and it is thought his sickness affected his mind.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from Mr. Blair's house and interment was in the Beebe cemetery.

During the absence of the family a clever thief broke into George Kittredge's house on Beebe road and got away with $190. Mr. Kittredge was at the Lowell farm cutting staves and Mrs. Kittredge had taken the team and gone to Newport to carry a visitor to the train. Two little boys, sons of Rufus Brown, a neighbor, who were watching cattle near by, said a man asked them, "Is Miss Kittredge home?" They replied that she was not, that she had gone to Newport. On Mrs. Kittredge's return a little girl came over to ask if she was expecting company, explaining that a man had been walking back and forth in the rear of the house and looking in the windows on the back porch.

Mrs. Kittredge at once looked at the desk and found the lock forced and two pocketbooks rifled of their contents. The entrance was made through a woodshed.

The Brown children described the man as being of medium size, and rather light complexion, wearing a green felt hat and dark checked suit.

Sunday forenoon as Mrs. Mary Clark and her father, Willard Miller were returning from church, while attempting to cross the street, Alex Hebert in his father's car, backed out of the Brainerd garage, struck and knocked down both Mrs. Clark and Mr. Miller. The victims were taken at once to Dr. Gilfillan's and afterward removed to their home. Mrs. Clark has a broken arm and is badly bruised about the head and Mr. Miller it is feared has several broken ribs and other minor injuries.

AID HOSPITAL FUND

Little Folks Get $8 from Self-Planned Show in Garage.

A show was given Saturday afternoon by a few of the little tots of Third, Pleasant and Prospect streets, in Emery's garage, for the benefit of the hospital fund, and $8 was realized.

The garage was converted into a real stage, with flags and flowers in profusion and the following program was well carried out:

Selection, Victrola
Song, "Good Afternoon to You," Company

Recitation, Payson Davis
Dance, Geneva Hayes, Olive Wilkie

Song, "Bubbles," Olive Wilkie
Dance, Butterly, Vivian Peabody

Selection, Victrola
Song, "Mickey," Company

Lullaby, Dorothy Hayes and Alvira Farman

Dance, Star Spangled Banner, Company

Much credit is due these children and especially Geneva Hayes, who planned and directed the affair with rare skill.

Another "Little Folks' Entertainment."

When Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Coburn want an evening of musical comedy or vaudeville they just call on their young daughter, Claire, who gathers in her talented little friends and they put on a "show" which is as funny from behind the scenes as

LOSS TO NEWPORT

Well Known Dr. Gould Goes to Utica, N. Y., Where He Will Build.

Owing to the poor health of Dr. O. B. Gould and the necessity of closing his office and spending the winter in Florida, he has permanently removed from Newport to Utica, N. Y., where he has shipped his household goods, purchased a building site and expects to erect a residence in the near future.

Dr. and Mrs. Gould left Newport the middle of September for Utica, where they will visit relatives before being joined by Mrs. Gould's niece and husband of Lyndonville and going to Florida for the winter.

In the departing of Dr. and Mrs. Gould, Newport loses two of its most popular people, who will be greatly missed in the business and social affairs.

Dr. Gould was born in Barnston, P. Q., in 1854, moving with his father's family to Irasburg when he was 12 years of age. With the help of a brother, two years older, he managed to support a family of eight persons on a small farm and pay off a mortgage. He began riding with Dr. Green of Coventry, who was treating him, and soon mastered the primary medical studies, and it was then he decided to study medicine at U. V. M.

This was in 1873. His work at college was interrupted by sickness at home, and within three years he buried his mother, brother and four sisters, but in 1877 he graduated from the college of medicine, spent 14 weeks at Harvard medical school and read medicine with Dr. Carpenter of Burlington.

In August, 1877, he married Miss Ella Howell of Coventry, and the following February commenced his practice of medicine in Greensboro, where he continued for three and one-half years, at which time sickness overcame him, which lasted for a year. When recovered from this sickness, he began to practice in the town of Coventry, where he continued until his health again failed him three years later. A season in Denver, Colorado, restored his former health and he went to Derby and settled in May, 1886. In 1891 his wife died and for several years he made his home at the Memphremagog House.

In 1893 he married Mary Caswell Lawrence of Newport and the greater part of the time since has been spent in our city, where the doctor built up an active and lucrative practice in this immediate vicinity.

He is a member of the Orleans County Medical society, a Knight Templar of Malta Commandry, and has a host of friends in this place and throughout the county.

before the footlights. But these young actresses are financiers and philanthropists, and their labors are entirely for the hospital fund. The little entertainment given Saturday afternoon netted $1.75 and was so much applauded that it will be repeated in a few days. The program was carried out entirely without assistance or coaching. Watch the date. Help the children help the hospital fund.
